Two-month probe nets five 3,600 lbs. of pot, $236,667

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
A two-month cooperative investigation by law enforcement officials has resulted in the arrest of five persons and seizure of some 3,600 pounds of marijuana and a safe containing $236,667.

"It's the most money I've ever seen," Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said Tuesday afternoon at the scene of the arrest, 41 Riverside Drive in Pearlington.

Being held in Hancock County Jail under $1 million bond each are Jeffery Kerr, 42, of 41 Riverside Drive; his son Peter E. Kerr, 18, of the same address; Hugh Turner, 38, of San Rafael, Calif.; and Winslow Byrne, 40, of Wakefield, R.I.

A 15-year-old juvenile was also arrested and turned over to Juvenile Court, Peterson said.

Peterson said the arrests were made by officers of the Sheriff's Department, U.S. Customs, Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics and Mississippi Drug Enforcement Administration.

In all, some 30 persons were at the scene Tuesday afternoon, including Waveland Police Department Investigators Robert Tartavouille and Sandra Henley.

According to Peterson, who said more arrests may follow, Sheriff's Department Investigator Alvin Ladner initiated the case and is in charge of the investigation.

The case has been under investigation since February 7, Ladner said.

According to Peterson, surveillance began when officers observed a 45-foot pleasure boat going in and out of the canal next to the Riverside Drive residence.

At about 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, he said, U.S. Customs agents boarded the boat and found marijuana residue.

They secured the people at the residence, Peterson reported, then searched the residence and a shed after obtaining a search warrant from Circuit Judge James Thomas.

"Most of the pot—76 bales—was in the shed," Peterson said, adding that the marijuana is believed to have come from South America.

The safe, which was found hidden outside the home, contained $236,667 in $100, $50, $20 and $1 denominations.

Also confiscated were the pleasure boat, a Dodge van, a Chevrolet truck, an Oldsmobile, radio equipment and 27 weapons including handguns, rifles and automatics, Peterson said.

Ironically, Peterson said the Ryder moving truck used to transport the marijuana, guns, and money from Pearlington to the Sheriff's Office in Bay St. Louis was the same truck used to transport marijuana involved in another cooperative drug investigation earlier this month.

Deputy Sheriff David Garcia and Glenn Comprett, both of the Sheriff's Department, were charged with possession of marijuana with intent to sell or distribute and conspiracy to distribute marijuana, Peterson said.

Yesterday afternoon the suspects were pre-arraigned before Judge Thomas and the marijuana was burned at the Catahoula dump.

Also yesterday, arrangements were being made to care for two talking parrots and two Akitas found at the residence.

Akitas are rare and expensive pedigree dogs said to have been favorites of the emperors of Japan.

Commission accepts bid to revitalize oyster reefs

The State Wildlife Conservation Commission awarded a contract Tuesday for the revitalization of oyster reefs offshore from Pass Christian and Hancock County.

The five-member commission unanimously accepted the bid for the replanting project from Radcliffe Materials, Inc. of New Orleans.

Radcliffe's price of $12.54 a cubic yard was lower than that of one other bidder.

Area churches plan Easter sunrise services

An ecumenical Easter sunrise service sponsored by the Hancock County Ministerial Association, the general public will begin at 6 a.m. Sunday on the lawn of Christ Episcopal Church on South Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis.

The Easter message will be given by Rev. Henry Jean, new pastor at Christ Episcopal.

Following the service refreshments will be served in Virgin Hall next to the church, with donuts donated by Bessie Green's Donuts of Bay St. Louis.

Frances Thorndell, SVD, rector of St. Francis Xavier Church, will conduct the service.

Several local pastors will participate in the service and a volunteer choir will sing. Rev. Charles O. Swan, pastor of the Cedar Drive Missionary Baptist Church, will preach the sermon.

The service will be followed by a breakfast at the church.

Donations will be received to the ministry funds of the church.

Everyone is invited to attend.

The project will be funded with a $55,200 grant from the National Marine Fisheries Service, which is providing about $2.5 million to restore damaged reefs in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi.

The grant to the state will pay for the planting of nearly 42,400 cubic yards of shell material on reefs that already cover nearly 5,000 acres.

Large reefs off Pass Christian and near Pass Marianne were among those devastated by an influx of fresh water last May and June, when the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers opened the Bonnet Carré Spillway on the Mississippi River to protect New Orleans from flooding.

The spillway opening diverted some 2.5 million gallons of water a second from the river into Lake Pontchartrain, leading to the freshening of the western portion of the Sound.

The shell-planting project, which will take nearly a month to complete, will begin around the first of June—the time of the first "spat" when oyster larvae attach themselves to shells.

However, if the spillway is opened again this spring, the planting project will be postponed until the September equinox or "whatever conditions are right," said Dr. Richard Leard, Bureau of Marine Resources director.

In July, however, the commission granted permits for four projects recommended for approval by the BMR, including:

• Maintenance dredging by Pearl River Marina of existing canals in Pearlington. The 1,000 cubic yards of sand will be disposed in areas adjacent to the canals.

• An "ad hoc" request from Charles W. Brown, who had already installed a 70-foot-long timber bulkhead in a channel near Heron Bay Estates in the Ansdell area.

The public is invited to attend all services.

The Rev. Mary E. Nay will conduct a 6:30 a.m. Easter sunrise service at the Clermont Harbor United Methodist Church.

In Pearlington, an interfaith/interracial sunrise service will be held at 6 a.m. in the Charles B. Murphy Elementary School gymnasium.

Several local pastors will participate in the service and a volunteer choir will sing. Rev. Charles O. Swan, pastor of the Cedar Drive Missionary Baptist Church, will preach the sermon.

The service will be followed by a breakfast at the church.

Donations will be received to the ministry funds of the church.

Everyone is invited to attend.

Judge orders defendant to pay costs

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
Deputy D. Perrot, who elected to plead guilty on the date of his trial for arson, was ordered by Circuit Judge James Thomas to pay $720 to Hancock County as reimbursement for Wednesday's jury costs.

Prospective jurors were on hand at the courthouse yesterday morning to hear Perrot, 24, pled guilty to setting fire February 14, 1983 to the apartment he and his wife were living in at 208 Carroll Ave. in Bay St. Louis.

Perrot said he was drunk at the time of the fire and does not remember what happened.

Assistant District Attorney J.P. Comprett said the prosecution was prepared to show that a cousin of Perrot's took him to a Jr. Food Mart that day to buy a gallon of gasoline to "torch" the apartment.

Comprett alleged that Perrot was angry at his landlord who had complained because he was behind on his rent.

A second witness was also at the scene, Comprett said.

According to Comprett, a neighbor saw the fire and notified Fire Department officials who arrived within a matter of moments.

But the apartment house, he said, had five apartments, including one female tenant who was crippled and another who was sleeping at the time.

Fire damage, Comprett said, amounted to $3,768.

Comprett recommended Perrot be sentenced to seven years in the state penitentiary, with sentence suspended and three years probation, plus attorney fees, court costs, travel costs which the state paid to bring a witness from California to testify and restitution in the amount of $924 for fire damages not reimbursed by insurance.

Public defender William Frisbie noted that Perrot has no prior criminal record, said he and his wife had been arguing and that Perrot and his two friends had been out on the beach smoking pot and drinking beer.

"Among them," Frisbie said, "they consumed two to three cases of beer."

Frisbie noted that Perrot had an honorable discharge after four years service in the U.S. Navy, is gainfully employed and is in touch with an alcohol treatment center since the arson occurred.

Thomas, suggesting over Frisbie's objection that Perrot should have decided earlier to plead guilty, sentenced him to ten years in the state penitentiary, suspended sentence and placed him on probation for five years.

He also ordered him to pay Hancock County $350 as partial payment of his court-appointed attorney fees, court costs in the approximate amount of $100 per month for his defense and $100 per month for his apartment owner.

Thomas stipulated that the $100-per-month payments should be applied first to court costs, then to reimbursement to the apartment owner.

Frisbie protested Thomas assessing Perrot for jury costs.

"I don't know if other judges do that," Thomas responded. "Do."

OTHER COURT MATTERS

In other criminal court proceedings this week:

—David Scalfi of Bay St. Louis, who was scheduled for trial on a charge of taking money under false pretense, told the court he had not been able to employ an attorney to represent him; Thomas appointed Yvonne Sills as his attorney and re-scheduled the trial for the July court term.

—The trial of Stacy Lizana of Pass Christian for possession of a controlled substance was continued to July.

—Gerald Christmas of Bay St. Louis pled guilty to burglary of Lee's Pawn Shop in Bay St. Louis and was sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary, to be served concurrently with a three-year sentence he is currently serving.

Putting more fill on the street will create severe drainage problems, she said.

She also said that constant traffic of dump trucks in the area is causing further deterioration of the street.

"Whenever it rains it floods our yards," Maurice Eagan said.

Bennett said an engineering firm is studying the problem both in that area and in others throughout the city and Walter Gex III, attending Tuesday's meeting in City Attorney Joseph Gex' absence, noted that Hancock County has commissioned an overall subterranean drainage study that should, when eventually implemented, alleviate some drainage problems.

"We're talking about a massive project that will cost a ton of money," he said.

In other business the council:

Bennett also read a letter from Bennett to Robert Kane of McDonald Realty Co. regarding the hook-up to city water lines to homes in the area of Longfellow, Dave, Sulak, Cadillac Drive, Lincoln, Mercury and Pontiac.

"Along with the Farmer's Home program, we stand an excellent chance of providing city water in that area," he said.

Water is presently being furnished through the realty company, Bennett said.

Also Tuesday, Mrs. Fred Eagan presented a petition requesting the city consider replacing sidewalks on North Beach Boulevard from US-90 to the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club when it reaches the water and was low and repair the road in the winter.

"We've had problems since Hurricane Camille," she said noting that while the new curb replaced and sidewalk were there, the flooding was

Marine education center to open in Biloxi May 1

The J. L. Scott Marine Education Center will open May 1.

Dr. Harold D. Howse, director of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, said the center will feature live animals displayed in tanks simulating their natural habitats.

A branch of the laboratory, the J. L. Scott Marine Education Center (MEC), is located on the laboratory's Biloxi Campus which is on the south side of US-90, just west of the Biloxi-Ocean Springs bridge.

Gerald Corcoran, curator of the MEC who oversees the day-to-day operation of the center, said the quiet opening will permit the staff additional time for stocking aquaria, feeding animals, and developing programs.

"We hope to have the assistance of volunteers from the coastal area during some hours of the day throughout the busy summer months," said Corcoran, adding, "This is especially important this summer because of the increase in visitors to the Coast during the New Orleans World's Fair."

Hours when visitors will be admitted to the center are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. For the time being, the center will be closed to visitors on Saturday.

The admission fees will be charged beginning May 1 to provide additional operating revenue.

Fees are $2 for ages 17 to 65; $1 for ages 6 to 16; and 50 cents for children in organized groups that have made prior arrangements to visit and are accompanied by an adult chaperone.

On the last Wednesday of each month, admission to the center is free.

Letters to Congressman needed for sewerage

Many of us can remember not too many years ago when we could walk along the shores of the beach in winter and 'coo' oysters.

Oysters grew on just about anything in the bay, on items such as old tires, bricks, concrete pilings, old shoes, and on and on...

We, like others tongued many a sack of oysters from Bayou Cadet and also near the mouth of Jourdan River.

The area under the seawall, almost to the high tide mark, was matted with oysters.

In the year of 1984, we ask those in the know, just what happened to the oysters? One word keeps popping up, pollution.

Pollution is caused by many things, and indications are that in Hancock County the largest contributor is sewerage.

This in addition to the bottles, cans, papers, plastic containers, and industrial wastes.

One must remember that anything which is dumped into any ditch, canal, stream, bayou or river in Hancock County eventually ends up in the Bay.

The process can be turned around, but it will take total effort by everyone.

There are many persons within the county dumping raw sewerage into ditches, canals, bayous, and rivers, in addition to sewerage treatment plant discharges.

At this time in Hancock County, the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District is trying to secure federal funds for an upland irrigation sewage disposal system.

Indications are that this is the most improved method of sewage treatment and causes the least harm to the environment.

At a recent public hearing held by the Regional Wastewater Management District, a request was made for citizens to write their congressman urging him to help Hancock County obtain federal funds to construct the irrigation system.

Yes, there were many people at the public hearing, 150 or so, and were as the saying goes, 'raising cane' about the discharge lines in the bayous and rivers. As of this week about a dozen persons have written, requesting Congressman Trent Lott to seek assistance in the matter.

The time for a turn-around in Hancock Countians' thinking about our environment is now, not next week, next year, or ten years from now.

If you are interested in Hancock County's future, the time is now to act, and all you have to do is take a few minutes to drop a line to Congressman Lott. Seek his assistance in securing federal funds for an upland irrigation sewage disposal system.

This we feel, is one tremendous step in the right direction, and the next will be the extension of sewerage lines in the municipalities and county areas.

On the matter of items being thrown into our canals, bayous, rivers, and bay, this could be stopped immediately with the cooperation of everyone.

Nothing is impossible with everyone working together.

Letters can reach Congressman Lott by writing:

MISSISSIPPI CONSUMER REPORT

A Service of the Consumer Protection Division Of The Office Of
Edwin Lloyd Pittman Attorney General

TIMESHARE CONDONIUMS

Due to the growing number and increasing variety of problems Mississippi consumers are currently experiencing regarding the purchase of "Timeshare Condominiums," the Office of Consumer Protection is alerting Mississippi residents to be cautious of gift giveaway programs and promoters of timesharing vacations.

Mississippi residents are being flooded with phone calls, letters and cards announcing the recipient as the winner of gifts ranging from cars and cash to coffee makers. All you have to do is get your gift, the cards say, is visit and inspect a timeshare condominium or campsite.

The timesharing plan is the purchase or lease of a block of time, usually in a resort condominium, for a week or two each year for several years. The timeshare purchaser also receives the option to trade his/her block of time for that in another "exotic" location.

Free meals, trips, dishes, silverware, and other contests and prizes are but a few of the gimmicks used to sell vacation and retirement land. However, on close examination some plans are greatly trimmed down versions of what the consumer is led to expect.

The initial "free" vacation to visit the site does not include such things as transportation, meals and sometimes room taxes. This "free" trip also usually obligates the consumer to long and highly pressured sales sessions designed to entice you to purchase the program being offered. Only at the end of the day will you be given the promised gift. There are documented cases of gifts being refused to participants not wishing to purchase into the vacation program.

Another aspect of the plan that bears mention is that some of the promoters of timesharing use high pressure tactics to get you to sign a contract on your first visit to their office. As Mississippi does not have a law regulating timesharing, Attorney General Ed Pittman is warning Mississippi consumers against acting on impulse by signing "contests" or "giving" credit cards numbers to anyone unless they are familiar with the company and quality of the goods or services being offered.

Should you decide to buy into a timeshare plan, you should have an attorney or other trusted person familiar with timesharing techniques to go over the contract with you before signing it; you should understand that you may be buying a membership in a campground and not a piece of real estate.

Read and understand the property report, deed restrictions or covenants on the property, restrictions or zoning requirements stipulated by the local unit of government, and gain a complete understanding of your ownership rights. You should look closely at the requirements and alternatives for financing your timeshare lot, such as buying for cash, obtaining a conventional loan, obtaining a loan from state or federal agencies, or purchase from the previous owner.

You should understand the refund policies of the development, all of the various assessments and charges that can be levied against your property and what protection is provided in the event the developer declares bankruptcy and a mortgage lender acquires a lien on the entire project.

You should also be aware that the local timeshare project is not necessarily connected with any national or international timeshare program, and that arrangements to spend time in other timeshare units around the nation or world might not be guaranteed by your participation in the local program.

Before you consider purchasing any timeshare plan, you should contact the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office or your local Better Business Bureau to check on the company's reputation or record of service.

Remember that old adage "you don't get something for nothing." "Free" gifts aren't always free; they sometimes cost a large investment in time and money.

Practices by public officials would be legal under a proposed constitutional amendment approved last week by the Mississippi Senate and House, according to Common Cause/Mississippi, a citizens' lobbying organization.

Unless the Legislature acts to strengthen the measure before it is sent to the voters, the amendment will be rejected by the public, the group predicted.

"Why is the Legislature trying to legalize what the state Constitution has prohibited since 1890 — conflicts of interest?" asked Common Cause Field Director Roberta Madden.

In their efforts to modernize the 94-year-old document, she asserted, legislators went on record for "drastically reversing the historic prohibition against making a profit from one's public office."

In a public hearing Feb. 29 conducted by the Senate and House Constitution Committees, legislators were told that the measure would allow them to sell goods and services to state agencies.

"Common Cause believes such practices violate the concept that public office is a public trust, and we think voters will reject the amendment, with good reason," Madden said.

The Senate approved the constitutional amendment by a vote of 39 to 10, after several attempts to amend it failed. In the House, Rep. DeWayne Thomas, Jackson, offered a Common Cause-supported amendment, but it failed and the measure passed.

Matters of Health

POTASSIUM

Why do we need the mineral potassium? How much is enough?

Potassium is very important for nerves and muscles to work normally. About 98 percent of the body's potassium is inside cells. The remaining two percent is found in body fluids that bathe the cells. When a body is healthy, this ratio of potassium is maintained to allow cells to function normally.

This balance of potassium inside cells and in the fluids bathing cells controls an important part of normal functioning of the heart and intestinal muscles.

Potassium also plays a role in the insulin-secreting function of the pancreas, as well as the proper functioning of other endocrine glands, most notably the adrenal glands.

The kidneys' ability to produce a concentrated urine when necessary is affected by potassium.

What happens when our bodies have either too much or too little potassium?

Since potassium is found in many fruits and vegetables, especially avocados, bananas, potatoes, oranges, beef and nuts, it's rare for a healthy person eating a balanced diet to suffer either a deficiency or excess of potassium.

Potassium is readily absorbed through the digestive tract. Excess is excreted through the kidneys. Normally, our kidneys excrete potassium in response to the amount we ingest.

However, when our bodies retain or lose too much potassium, a variety of problems can develop, particularly abnormalities of heart rhythm, muscle weakness and damage to the kidneys.

Potassium deficiency is more common than retention of excess potassium. The mineral may be lost through intestinal fluids during prolonged and severe vomiting or diarrhea.

But the single most common cause of potassium deficiency is the use of diuretics (fluid pills), often prescribed to control high blood pressure.

Virtually all currently prescribed diuretics cause the kidneys to lose some potassium, with the exception of those few called "potassium sparing." These may, in rare cases, cause the kidneys to retain too much potassium.

Rarely does a person develop serious potassium deficiency or depletion from commonly prescribed diuretics. Such loss is usually insignificant.

Doctors who prescribe diuretics for control of hypertension generally monitor the patient's potassium levels by periodic blood tests. This spares the majority of patients from taking expensive and usually unnecessary potassium supplements.

Mistrial is declared in Ladner murder case

By NAN PATTON EHBRIGHT

Saying he didn't have 'any choice,' Circuit Judge James Thomas declared a mistrial Tuesday in the murder trial of Hurley S. Ladner, charged with killing his father-in-law Dale Raymond Paige last July 10.

Thomas ruled that the state had erred in not informing Defense Attorney Albert Necaise during discovery proceedings that Hancock Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay would testify that Ladner told him he shot Paige, and also erred in not giving Necaise the name of Sheriff's Deputy Nathan Hoda as a state witness.

In similar cases, "The Supreme Court has now created an absolute rule to reverse and remand," Thomas said.

Following his decision, made following a hearing on motions with the jury absent from the courtroom, Thomas called the Hancock County jury back to explain the proceedings.

"Mr. Necaise said he intended to try this case on the theory of self-defense," Thomas said.

"Even though that was stated, you also were told that's not evidence. The burden is still on the state to prove guilt."

"The state called Seay out of order. He was the state's first witness, which ended up ruining their case."

"When Seay testified he had talked to the defendant and the defendant said I shot him. I was scared of him...there was no evidence at that time that he had killed anyone."

At that point the statement was incriminating, Thomas told the jury, because it stated that a person was killed, that the defendant killed him and noted the weapon used, all 'elements of proof' in the state's case.

"There was a duty on the part of the state to provide that statement to the defendant," Thomas said, emphasizing that he did not believe the omission was intentional and the state had tried to comply fully with rules governing discovery.

Thomas noted that law enforcement officials take oral statements and then, because they are busy, fail to write them down, which can jeopardize the case for the prosecution later.

Earlier in the trial, and outside the hearing of the jurors, Thomas told the attorneys, "You and I are well aware of the problems the state has. They're stuck with the case that's given to them. I've seen too many times when an officer has taken something orally and never put it in the file."

Seay had testified that when he talked to Ladner the defendant was very nervous, very upset.

Although Ladner said he understood the Miranda warnings Seay gave him, Seay said he had felt it would be detrimental both to the state and the defense to take a formal statement at that time.

Seay also testified that he was told Ladner was taken to Hancock General Hospital shortly afterwards for treatment for shock.

Thomas also noted in his comments to the jurors that the time taken to select a jury in the Ladner case was "almost abnormal."

In capital cases, he explained, each side has 12 peremptory challenges which they need not explain when dismissing a prospective juror.

In this case, the prosecution team of Assistant District Attorneys Gray Burdick and Lydia Suffling used only two peremptory challenges.

The defense used none.

Before the trial began Monday, Thomas ruled that Ladner's wife, Regina Mae Paige Ladner, would be allowed to testify against her husband.

A wife may not be forced to testify against her husband, but Mrs. Ladner was willing to do so.

Mrs. Ladner told the court, outside the presence of the jury, that her father entered the couple's bedroom after she screamed when her husband threw her on the bed, held a knife to her throat and told her he'd kill her if she left him.

Necaise argued that she had not mentioned the knife in her taped statement to Sheriff's Department officers the day after her father's death.

"The court has to decide whether she's telling the truth now or whether she was telling the truth then," he said.

"The credibility question does not concern admissibility," Thomas responded.

"I don't rule on credibility. That's for the jury to decide."

In her opening statement to the jury, Suffling said the couple, who had been married only a month, had a quarrel the night of July 9 and Mrs. Ladner left their home in the Standard community and went to her father's home in Saucier where she spent the night.

The next day, Suffling said, Mrs. Ladner and her father returned about 7 a.m. to get some of her clothes.

When Necaise asked her to go into the bedroom, Suffling said, Ladner locked the door and threatened with her not to leave, threatening her with a knife.

When she screamed, her father, unarmed and dressed in cutoffs, shirt and flip-flops came into the room.

Ladner then picked up an AR-15 carbine rifle and shot Paige twice in the stomach.

But Necaise, in his opening statement for the defense, said the couple had been living together since about February, 1981.

He noted that Paige was six feet two inches tall and weighed 250 pounds while Ladner is five feet six inches tall and weighs 165 pounds.

Ladner shot Paige, Necaise said, in self-defense after Paige threatened to kill Ladner.

"Once that defense is raised," he said, "it is not the defendant's burden to prove self-defense, but rather the state's burden to prove it was not self-defense."

Prior to Seay's testimony regarding the defendant's admission, Necaise moved for a mistrial when the prosecution produced the AR-15 in court before admitting it into evidence.

Thomas overruled that motion, saying producing the gun in front of the jury was unwise but not cause for a mistrial.

Following Thomas' mistrial declaration, the prosecutor requested an immediate trial date and a hearing date for motions.

Hearings on motions were tentatively scheduled in Gulfport May 4, and Thomas said he would probably set the trial date for a special June court term.

Necaise indicated he would file a motion to dismiss the case based upon "double jeopardy."

Burglary

Henry Rega, 20, of Rhode Island allegedly robbed the Andy Lott residence on Hwy. 603 in Kiln on their way from Mardi Gras in New Orleans.

The duo are also allegedly implicated in a stolen vehicle charge in Pearl River County, Seay added.

Nathan Hoda, Hancock County deputy is assisting Seay in the case.

HEAVY EQUIPMENT

A second person has been arrested in connection with last week's recovery of heavy equipment stolen in Texas and recovered in Hancock County, according to Seay.

Seay stated, "Elwood Martin, 42, was arrested in Tucson, Ariz., for vehicle theft and has been placed on hold for Hancock authorities."

"The court has to decide whether she's telling the truth now or whether she was telling the truth then," he said.

"The credibility question does not concern admissibility," Thomas responded.

"I don't rule on credibility. That's for the jury to decide."

In her opening statement to the jury, Suffling said the couple, who had been married only a month, had a quarrel the night of July 9 and Mrs. Ladner left their home in the Standard community and went to her father's home in Saucier where she spent the night.

The next day, Suffling said, Mrs. Ladner and her father returned about 7 a.m. to get some of her clothes.

Last week Gary Taylor of Waveland was arrested and charged with alleged possession and receiving stolen property in connection with the stolen equipment, Seay said.

Taylor appeared before Justice Court Judge Horatio Frierson and was released on a $25,000 bond.

All but one piece of the equipment has been returned to the owners located in Pasadena and Houston, Texas.

Seay is being assisted in the case by T.P. Naylor, Mississippi Highway Patrol criminal investigator; and Robert (Poochy) Tartavouille, Waveland investigator.

Organ Donation Week focuses on awareness

Mississippians are encouraged to become organ donors during National Organ Donation Awareness Week April 22-28 through the Mississippi transplant program at the University of Mississippi Medical Center in Jackson.

The week has been designated National Organ Donation Awareness Week by the President and Congress. The American Council on Transplantation (ACT), a new federation of people and organizations involved in organ and tissue transplants, is assisting local committees across the nation to raise public awareness and support for this cause.

The roots of transplantation extend back to the 17th century with the first recorded blood transfusion.

The first successful organ transplant—a kidney from a healthy identical twin—took place in Boston in 1954.

Transplantation of organs from unrelated post-mortem donors is a more recent development.

Recent technical breakthroughs, including drugs to control rejection problems, have improved the outlook. As a result, successful transplantation of the body's vital organs and tissues is increasingly practical.

In 1983 nearly 4,000 people received post-mortem kidneys. More than 100 each received hearts and livers. Nearly 20,000 received cornea transplants. Surgeons also performed bone, bone marrow, skin, heart-lung combinations and pancreatic transplants.

The remarkable achievements of transplant surgery introduce new problems, however. Not enough organs are donated to fill the need.

By one recent estimate, over 7,000 patients are awaiting kidneys. The rate of newly needy patients in the near future may be twice that many each year. Similar deficits can be expected to occur with other organs.

Most Americans, according to opinion surveys, support organ donation. Yet less than 20 percent who might act on their convictions do so. ACT and others believe that mobilized public and professional determination and a national system of support can effectively change that situation.

Dr. Gary E. Friedlaender, ACT president, says, "Awareness week activities across the country are a step toward that change."

"Citizens will be encouraged to learn more about the successful story of transplantation, to state their interest in becoming donors and to discuss it with helping agencies and their families so that decisions can be considered outside mourning periods."

"Only with the cooperation and help of citizens around the nation can we expect to effect a major change for the better."

To obtain further information on organ donation contact The Mississippi Transplant Program, University of Mississippi Medical Center, 2500 North State St., Jackson, 39216.

EASTER HAM

Ham has for many a year been the preferred meat for the Easter feast at many a Southern dinner table, although there are also many who would rather have lamb or chicken or such.

Whether you choose a country ham or a more bland, fully cooked ham that requires only heating—or if your family's small and you choose a center ham slice, enjoy!

The small town of Smithfield, in the peanut country of Virginia, has long been famed for its delicious hams, the result of the hogs fattening swiftly, foraging in the peanut fields after the crops have been harvested, giving the hams a special taste.

Kentucky's hams are renowned also, and I'll always remember my first taste of country ham from Hopkinsville, Ky., at the home of one of my closest friends, Eugenie Chavanne Schwartz, long years ago in New Orleans when we were teenagers just learning to appreciate the finer things of the table.

Seven area youth soccer teams to participate in state tourney

After the dust of District Tournaments cleared this past weekend, seven of the 13 teams entered by Bay Area Youth Soccer survived to go on to the State Tournament in Starkville on May 5 and 6.

The seven surviving include five district champions and at least one team from each age division except the Under 8 group.

After winning the first round of single elimination, Gateway Body Shop was eliminated on successive defeats by both Ocean Springs teams and Gulfport.

The Under 8 tournament resulted in three teams being tied with a total of six points each. But under the tie-breaking rules, the Ocean Springs 'Battlestars' are the champions—scoring seven goals while allowing only one.

However, the Ocean Springs 'Jets' and the Gulfport squad will play to an additional game to determine the runner-up position as both teams scored seven goals and allowed only two goals.

In girls' action, Gulfport defeated Ocean Springs in the only game.

At Pascagoula in the Under 10 District Tournament,

Lolacano's Health Spa annihilated all opposition, allowing only one goal while scoring 20. Lolacano's well-balanced attack featured nine goal-scorers and a strong defense. Of all the BAYS representatives at the State Tournament, this team probably had the best chance to bring home a State Championship.

In girls' action, Dillman Roofing lived up to expectations by winning both of its games by identical 1-0 scores. It was good passing and a strong defense which made the difference.

In the Under 12 District Tournament at Ocean Springs, BAYS scored a clean sweep as both Dental Health Service and Pat's Chevron will represent BAYS at State.

Dental Health Service swept through its two opponents on Saturday and Sunday, 9-1 and 6-0, while Pat's Chevron had a little more difficulty, winning 10-4 and having to settle for a 2-2 tie.

However, Sunday afternoon in the final game both teams met head-to-head again with undefeated records in a rematch of their league championship game. This time

Pat's Chevron scored first, but Dental Health Service came back to win by an identical 3-1 score.

Meanwhile, The Sea Coast Echo won its first game of the season Saturday afternoon, 3-0, over Biloxi, but lost the remaining three, being shut out twice on Sunday.

At Milner Stadium in Gulfport, Gulf Coast Waste ran into difficulty, losing Wednesday to the second Gulfport team. Then, needing a win to reach the semi-finals, it could only manage a tie with Ocean Springs.

Meanwhile Knights of Columbus, after two disappointing ties, got untracked to down the second Ocean Springs team 2-0 to reach the semi-finals. Then the Knights swept to the title by downing Biloxi and Gulfport by identical 1-0 scores.

In the Under 16 District Tournament at Biloxi Municipal Stadium, Alcan Cable completed a clean sweep to become district champions by defeating the second Ocean Springs team 3-2 on Thursday and Biloxi 1-0 on Friday.

On Saturday, Sports World took a 1-0 lead over Gulfport, Demboski adds.

Stanislaus defeats Mercy Cross, OLV

St. Stanislaus High School captured two wins this week in prep baseball action.

Monday, the Rock-A-Chaws defeated Mercy Cross at Mercy Cross by a score of 11-6. The game was highlighted by a six-run first inning by St. Stanislaus.

Singles by Chris Darling, Casey Wittmann, and a double by Trey d'Armond got things rolling for the Rocks. Walks to David and Donald Pitalo, Matt Rosetti, and Mark Logan accounted for the other runs.

Mercy Cross came back with two runs in the bottom of the first inning on a single and stolen base by Ricky Ducksworth. Two infield errors by St. Stanislaus advanced the runners.

Mercy Cross came back with two runs in the bottom of the first inning on a single and stolen base by Ricky Ducksworth. Two infield errors by St. Stanislaus advanced the runners.

In the bottom of the third inning, Mercy Cross stuck for three more runs with consecutive singles by Ducksworth, Robert Starks, and Sammy Sliman. Brett Desorte then hit into a double play, followed by Glen Matina's single. After three innings, the score was SSC 6, Mercy Cross 5.

The Rocks showed their power in the top of the fourth as Logan was safe on an error by the third baseman, David Pitalo singled, and Darling ripped a home run over the left field fence. The homer was Darling's fourth round tripper of the year. The Rocks then struck for two more runs with two outs as d'Armond struck out, but was safe at first as the ball got by the catcher allowing d'Armond to advance to first. Rosetti then singled, and Don Pitalo was safe on another error by the third baseman. Ronnie Artigues walked, and Logan was safe on an error by the catcher. At the end of four innings, the Rock had pulled away 11-6.

Mercy Cross got a lone run in the sixth as Desorte was safe on an infield error, stole second, and scored on a single by Joey Conn.

Wittman went the distance for the Rock-A-Chaws, striking out five and scattering seven hits. Losing pitcher for Mercy Cross was Pete Sekul.

Tuesday at Rock-A-Chaw field, the Rocks came back to defeat Our Lady of Victory High School by a score of 7-4.

OLV struck for one run in the top of the first, as Jimmy Crabtree was hit by Pat Clurso's wild pitch, advanced to second on a bunt, and scored when Shawn Farni singled to center field.

In the bottom of the first, d'Armond doubled over third base, but was left stranded at third base as Darling grounded to the second baseman.

OLV came back in the top of the third to score three more runs. Mike Woods walked, Doug MacGregor was safe when pitcher Pat Clurso hit back to the pitcher's box and Crabtree's fly to left was misjudged by David Pitalo.

Chris Collins then singled, scoring MacGregor. Crabtree then walked, and Farni singled back to the pitcher, scoring Crabtree. Going into the bottom of the third, the OLV Eagles led by a score of 4-0.

The Rocks came alive in the bottom of the third when Robert Peranich walked, and DH (Jake) Welsh sharply singled to right field, advancing However, both adult and youth rosters must be notarized in triplicate.

Corps adds, increases fees in some recreational areas

The Mobile District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, is prepared for another season of outdoor recreation at campers, swimmers, fishers and boating enthusiasts, and devotees of other water-oriented recreational activities plan visits to the many lakes and projects in the district.

Winnie Smith of the Corps Public Affairs Office says all water resource development projects within the district will continue to offer free use of picnic areas, swimming, and boat launching at Corps-operated launch ramps.

She noted the typical cost of a campsite will be $6, the same as last year, at most projects. The charge for electric hookups will be $2, up from last year's fee of $1 because of the high cost and increased demand for energy, Smith says.

Each project will continue to have at least one free campsite, Smith adds.

Fees based on administrative costs will be charged for the reservation of private docks, multipurpose courts, amphitheaters, and athletic complexes. A minimum $25 special permit fee may be charged for water carnivals, boat regattas, music festivals, dramatic presentations, fishing tournaments and similar events.

"A fee of $2 for each vehicle will be charged visitors to campers in fee campgrounds this year. In the past visitors to campers were admitted free," Smith states.

Smith further explains that revenues collected in user fees are returned to the projects that collect them to be used to further improve their parks and programs.

"The staff at the nearest Corps lake will be pleased to answer questions and receive comments concerning this program. Constructive criticism or suggestions for improvement are welcomed," she adds.

Book of Faulkner Letters Casts New Light Upon Nobel Prize Author

Letters by the Nobel Prize author William Faulkner have been published in a new book which sheds revealing light upon his life and career.

These letters, along with many others written by members of Faulkner's family and by critics and scholars close to his work, are a part of the prodigious Brodsky Collection which is the source for a series of volumes being published by the University Press of Mississippi and sponsored by the Center for the Study of Southern Culture at the University of Mississippi.

This new book, entitled simply "The Letters," is the second in a series of seven volumes in a project begun last year.

"A Comprehensive Guide to the Brodsky Collection" will include film scripts, poems, photographs, ledgers, wills, and other documents collected by Louis Daniel Brodsky, who with Robert W. Hamblin edits the series.

Brodsky, a poet and a Missouri businessman, has been a serious collector of Faulkner materials for more than a decade. Hamblin is a professor of English at Southeast Missouri State University.

Of the letters in this new volume, 129 were written by Faulkner, and most of these were written near the time when he was acclaimed as the winner of the Nobel Prize in literature and as one of America's greatest writers.

Many of these letters were written to Saxe Commins, his editor at Random House. Faulkner confides in Commins facts about the failure of his marriage and about his increasing fear of losing his creative powers.

Another group of letters were written by Phil Stone, an Oxford, Mississippi, lawyer who served as mentor to the young Faulkner. The Stone letters in this volume reveal his belief that Faulkner was overrated and show a growing personal distance between the friends.

Letters by Estelle Faulkner, the author's wife, show her to be a sensitive, insecure woman who cares deeply about her husband and her children and who expresses attempts to understand her husband's literary nature.

This book of letters is available in libraries and book stores or from the University Press of Mississippi, 3825 Ridgewood Road, Jackson, MS 39211 at $35 for hardback and $14.95 for paperback.

State agency offering solar water heating slide program

Home utility bills of $200 or even $300 per month have become common over the last couple of years as energy rates have climbed.

Many people have caulked and weatherstripped in attempts to manage energy costs. There is a further step, however, that can be taken by homeowners to reduce hot water and heating costs. That step? Solar.

Take a look at a homebuilt solar water heater or solar air panel. Take a real look, using the Mississippi Department of Energy and Transportation's new sound-slide programs which show how to build these two devices.

The solar batch-type water heater and thermosiphon air panel portrayed in the two slide programs were built last summer at Wells Methodist Church in Jackson.

A batch-type water heater is, in its simplest form, a water tank painted black and enclosed in a box covered with glass or synthetic glazing. It is, in effect, a tank inside a solar collector.

More conventional active solar water heaters pump water through pipes inside a collector and then into a water tank inside the building.

The batch heater allows more water to be warmed and acts on the demand principle. As heated water is needed, it flows into the building into the conventional water tank. The batch heater acts as a 'preheater' in which water may range from a few degrees above intake temperature to over 150 degrees, depending on season and cloudiness.

A batch water heater can be built at a fairly low cost, especially if used or recycled materials can be obtained.

The second slide program demonstrates construction of a solar thermosiphon air panel. The TAP is a collector which mounts to the exterior wall of a south-facing room. Vents are cut into the room at the bottom and top of the collector.

Cool air from the bottom of the room enters the collector. As the sun heats a black metal absorber plate, the air around it is heated and begins to rise. At the top of the collector air flows through the top vent back into the room, forming a convective loop.

The process continues as long as there is a temperature differential in the room, or until the sun's rays are stopped by clouds or sunset. The TAP can be built for less than $100 and provides enough heat for approximately one room.

In addition to the how-to slide programs, the Department of Energy and Transportation will have pamphlets available which list materials needed and step-by-step instructions for completing both devices.

New students at State urged to attend June orientation sessions

Students interested in enrolling this fall for the first time at Mississippi State University are encouraged to make plans to attend a campus orientation session in June.

The three sessions for incoming freshmen and two for transfer students are designed to give participants a head start at the university.

In addition to preregistering for fall classes, students—and their parents—have an opportunity to meet faculty and administrators, as well as students already enrolled.

"In our correspondence with first-time students, we emphasize that orientation is also for parents," said orientation director Jimmy Abraham.

"We have had many students tell us their parents are much more supportive and understanding of their needs when they, too, attend orientation."

As in the past, Abraham said sessions for transfer students and their parents will last only one day, while freshmen sessions will take place over a two-day period.

The 1984 orientation schedule is: Friday, June 8, transfers; Saturday and Sunday, June 9-10, freshmen; Thursday and Friday, June 14-15, freshmen; Friday, June 22, transfers; Saturday and Sunday, June 23-24, freshmen.

All freshman and transfer architecture and forest resources majors are strongly encouraged to attend the June 14-15 session, Abraham added.

Journalism student explores the small farmers' dilemma

By Lorrie Maynard
Ole Miss Journalism Intern

Last year in Mississippi, the Farmers Home Administration foreclosed on 91 farms. The number would have been 129 but other lenders had prior liens on the properties.

Dan Maddox, assistant state director of FmHA says, "For every percent of the state administration's loans have been delinquent for a year or more. We're carrying folks for longer than we used to."

Dr. Paul Oliver, associate professor emeritus of economics at The University of Mississippi, says he expects the rash of foreclosures and farm failures to continue because of the oversupply of farm products and farmers' inefficiency.

Oliver received his doctorate in agricultural economics from the University of Arkansas and has recently been elected to the Citizens Farm Committee.

Government farm programs won't remedy the problems, Oliver says, because the programs are based on social policy, not economic policy.

No federal farm programs have ever been economic, he says. From the first program proposed by Franklin Roosevelt in the Depression, to last year's $20 billion farm bail-out, government policy has been to preserve the family farm as a 'hallowed institution.'

"Government price-support programs can't offset farm failures because of the imbalance they create in farm supply and demand," he reports. "Three and a half million farmers now produce more food than American can eat. As long as the supply of food exceeds demand for it, farm prices will remain low, while farm costs continue to rise in all areas."

For example, the price of farm machinery has nearly quadrupled since the 1960s. A tractor bought in 1950 for $1,250 might sell now for $10,000. Big, highly efficient tractors sell for as much as $100,000.

"In farming these days, the key word is efficiency which translates into big," Oliver says. "In order to get efficient you have to get big. Or you have to get out."

More efficient farming and farming on a bigger scale are the answers to farmers' two basic problems: poor management in farm practices and undercapitalization. Increasing the size of a farm, Oliver says, achieves 'economies of scale,' in simpler terms, overhead is spread over more units, reducing costs.

This means using a 100 horsepower tractor to plow 100 acres is more efficient than using a tractor with a 30 horsepower engine. The big farmer can afford the cost of the bigger machine. Because he can afford it, he spends less time and money plowing his fields than the small farmer who must settle for a less efficient machine.

The idea of buying a bigger tractor and more land is ironic to the man struggling to pay the cost of last year's planting. Even if his farm wasn't mortgaged to the hilt, and many are, land prices have risen almost as fast as equipment prices.

Farmland that sold for $60 an acre 20 years ago sells for $600 to $1,500 an acre today. According to the most recent Census of Agriculture in 1978, farms in Mississippi average 256 acres.

To reach optimum size, Oliver says, a farm should expand to at least 1,200 acres. The average farmer, then, needs to finance an additional 900 acres or so of land. At today's land prices and finance rates, he needs to borrow a half-million to a million dollars at about 16 percent interest.

No one seems to have the answer to farm capitalization problems. The FmHA and Farm Credit Association are lenders of last resort for about 12 percent of all farm operations, lending money below market rates to farmers who have been denied credit elsewhere. And the 50-year-old price support program was designed to help build capital by assuring minimum prices on farm commodities.

These capital building measures have not offset rising costs of supplies and borrowing money. Profits that might have been used for expansion and new equipment have frequently been needed to pay interest on existing debts.

"It has been said," Oliver observes, "go to school. Take finance, marketing and economics. Learn management. Because the days when you can farm with 40 acres and a mule are long gone."

Lockhart advances in Elks scholarship competition

Kelly Lockhart, daughter of Mrs. Nancy Lockhart and a senior at Pass Christian High School, was recently selected as recipient of an Elks National Foundation Scholarship according to Jimmy Bartlett, scholarship chairman for Gulfport Elks Lodge No. 978.

Lockhart's application has been sent to the national contest for review. Results will be announced in May.

Lockhart is Student Council president, Annual editor and senior class vice-president. She belongs to the Beta, Drama, French, FHA, and Science Clubs.

During her sophomore year she was Mississippi's female ambassador to the Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation International leadership Seminar in Chicago.

In her junior year she was selected as one of two Mississippi youth to represent our nation as Mississippi Ambassador in the US-Japan Senate Youth Exchange program. Consequently, she spent two summer months in Japan as an exchange student.

In December Lockhart was selected as second alternate in the Harrison County Junior Miss Pageant. She has also been a participant in

UNO CONVOCATIONS

Two honors convocations will be held at the University of New Orleans Wednesday, April 25. The UNO College of Business Administration will conduct its program at 2 p.m. in room 211 A and B of the University Center. The university Air Force ROTC unit will hold its annual Honors Day at 3:30 p.m. in room 179 of the Business Administration building.

The programs, which are open to the public, will honor outstanding business students and AFROTC cadets. Judith Cowan Zabalaoui, president and chief executive officer, Resource Management, Inc.

will address the business program. Highlighting the AFROTC program will be the presentation of the chancellor's cup to the unit's most outstanding cadet by UNO's newly appointed chancellor, Dr. Cooper R. Mackin.

That's the easy way. Other ways involve study and hard work. Approximately 62 percent of Mississippi farmers and their wives have other jobs to bring in more money. Renting land is a solution to high land prices for 38 percent of the state's farmers.

Specialization—concentration in one area of farming—saves money by requiring less equipment. Fundamental to these capitol-producing measures though is the knowledge to apply them.

If you want to farm," Oliver says, "go to school. Take finance, marketing and economics. Learn management. Because the days when you can farm with 40 acres and a mule are long gone."

SSC STAR STUDENT Keith Mallini, left, selected Brother Noel Lemmon as his Star Teacher. This marks the ninth time that Brother Noel has been selected as Star Teacher at St. Stanislaus. (SSC Photo)

Mallini named SSC Star Student

Brother Paul Mulligan, principal of St. Stanislaus High School, reports senior Keith Mallini has been selected as Star Student by the Mississippi Economic Council's Student Teacher Achievement Recognition Program.

The selection was based on Mallini's high scholastic average for the first semester and his score on the American College Test.

Brother Noel Lemmon was designated Star Teacher by Mallini who feels Lemmon "made the greatest contribution to my achievement."

Mallini, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mallini of Bay St. Louis, is presently in his fifth year at St. Stanislaus. He is an alpha honor roll student and is a member of the National Honor Society, Drama Club, Math and Science Team and Speech and Debate Team.

He is president of the St. Stanislaus Band and secretary-treasurer of the Spanish Honor Society.

He received a superior rating in the Gulf Coast Solo and Ensemble Contest.

He scored in the top 10 percent in the National Spanish Exam and in the top 10 percent in the National Educational Development Test.

He represented St. Stanislaus this past summer at the Mississippi Boys' State.

Brother Noel, a native of Baton Rouge, La., teaches religion, mathematics and aviation at St. Stanislaus.

He received his bachelor's degree from Spring Hill College in Mobile, Ala.; and he earned his master's degree from Loyola University in New Orleans. He has been teaching for 35 years, and has been named Star Teacher at St. Stanislaus nine times. In 1977, he was selected Star Teacher for the state of Mississippi.

Pass gifted class hears chiropractor

Dr. D. J. Inkol was a recent guest speaker for the BALANCE classes at Pass Christian and Delisle Elementary Schools.

Dr. Inkol, a local chiropractor, presented an introduction to the nervous system and other systems of the body. The students were then given the opportunity to ask questions concerning the body.

Dr. Inkol also explained his profession and the training he had to take to become a chiropractor.

The BALANCE class, a newly-formed class in the Pass Christian Municipal Separate School District, consists of gifted and talented students in grades two, three and four at Pass Christian and Delisle Elementary Schools. This year there are 23 students in the class, which is taught by Debra Robbins.

Each student is receiving instruction in decision-making skills, research skills and divergent thinking skills. Creative problem solving, logical thinking and critical thinking skills are developed through individual and group activities.

Anti-drug confab tickets on sale

Some 5,000 students and concerned adults are expected for the two-day anti-drug conference "Kids Against Drugs" being sponsored by the Telephone Pioneers of America says Sybil Allen, project chairman.

Tickets are available through most coast schools and everyone is urged to secure their tickets as early as possible, she says.

Meetings are planned for April 25 and 26 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day at the Coast Coliseum and Convention Center in Biloxi.

Allen says that community response has been excellent for this undertaking.

"The meetings are designed to familiarize young people with the effects drug abuse can have on them and their families. Drugs such as cocaine, marijuana and alcohol are to be included in the discussions, along with alternative means of handling adolescent pressures," she reports.

Experts on these subjects will be conference leaders, Allen says. "This is designed to be a fun conference and a learning experience for the thousands of children that attend."

Speakers scheduled include John Novak, hypnotist and magician; Eddie Hodges, prevention coordinator for the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center; Dr. David Tilley, Director of Strait Inc. of Atlanta, Ga.; and Dr. Richard Garey, associate professor of psychiatry and neurology, Tulane University.

Cost to attend will be $5 per person, which covers some of the cost of the conference. The Saturday event will conclude some day to the
